XV. Customers shall give Warrants of Discharge to Merchants having paid their Custom.

ITEM, For that our Lord the King, by a Petition to him delivered in the same Parliament, by the Commons of the same, for the Merchants of the Realm, hath perceived, That [seeing '] the Customers and Controllers in the King's Ports do not write any Warrants in Discharge of the said Merchants of their Merchandises by them shewed and duly customed, some as well coming into the Realm as passing out of the same, the same Customers and Controulers do embezzle the King's Customs, and the (2) Merchants be greatly hindred, because that the Warrants might plainly shew and declare their due Custom, when they be (3) unduly impeached in the King's Exchequer: The same our Lord the King, considering the said Deceits, by the Advice Assent and Authority abovesaid, hath ordained, That the said Customers and Controllers shall write and deliver sufficient Warrants, sealed with the Seal of their Office to that ordained, to the said Merchants, and to every of them, for all and every of their Merchandises every Time by them to the Customers and Controllers duly (*) shewed; and that the said Merchants, nor any of them, shall any thing pay for the said Warrants, but only their due Custom. And in case that any Customer or Controller, in any of the said [Ports,3] do the contrary, that then every Merchant so grieved may have an Action, by virtue of this Ordinance, to pursue against every Customer or Controller that doth the contrary, in every Court of Record; and then every Customer or Controller so attainted shall forfeit to the King for every Default Ten Pounds, and to the Merchant thereby grieved, that will sue, a Hundred Shillings.

ITEM, Forasmuch as our most redoubted Sovereign Lord the King is greatly deceived of his Customs and Subsidies, [of that 6] the Customers of the said Ports within the Realm do seal blank Scrowls in Parchment, called Blank Cockets, with their Seals deputed to their Offices, and them so sealed do deliver to the Merchants, for to enter and write in them their Goods and Merchandises going out of the Realm to the Parts beyond the Sea, the King not answered nor payed of his Customs and Subsidies of such Goods and Merchandises; It is ordained, by the Advice and Authority aforesaid, That if any Customer seal any such blank Scrowl with the Seal assigned to his Office, or if any Merchant enter or write, or cause to be entered or written in such blank Scrowl or Charter so sealed, his Goods or Merchandises, thereby to defraud our Sovereign Lord the King of his Customs and Subsidies, then as well the same Customer as the Merchant shall be judged to forfeit all his Goods and Chattels, as they should forfeit in case of Felony; and that they and every of them shall have the Imprisonment of Three Years. .o said

Abatement of the Price of Wools, do purchase Licences for their singular avail to ship Wools to Calais, there to be sold before all other Wools there being, and be not bound to keep the Price, nor to receive no Bullion, nor to make Partition nor Distribution of their Money, in Manner as all Merchants of England there repairing be straitly bound [to keep, do by Statute aforesaid, by reason whereof 1 the said Merchants by the Means and Licences aforesaid be in Point to be destroyed, the said Staple to be dissevered and destroyed, and consequently the said Town of Calais, which by the said Staple hath hitherto been greatly maintained and inforced, is like to be undone and lost, and the said Realm [in Point to be 1] greatly hindered and hurt, as the same our Sovereign Lord the King hath conceived by the grievous Complaint to him made in [the3] same Parliament by the Commons of the same: Therefore the same our Sovereign Lord the King, willing for the same in this Case to provide a Remedy, by the Advice of the said Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Supplication of the said Commons, hath ordained in the same Parliament, that no such Licence, which is so prejudicial and contrary to the common and universal Weal of his Realm, and of his said Merchants, and in Destruction of the said Town, and (4) the said Ordinance of Partition, and of the Price of the Wools, shall in no wise be granted; And that every Man which shippeth, or doeth to be shipped any Wools or Woolfels, to carry them over the Sea in any wise, shall repair with the same to Calais, and there discharge and sell the said Wools and Woolfels, after the Tenour of the said Statutes, and after the good Rule and Ordinances of the said Staple, in Maintenance and Sustentation of the same, Relief and Increase of the said Town of Calais, and for the public Weal of this his Realm of England. Saving always to [our Sovereign Lord] the King, Power and Authority to modify the same Statute when it shall please him, by Advice of his Council, according as to him best shall seem for the Profit of him and of his Realm of England. Saving also to the Merchants of Genoa, Venice, Tuscany, Lombardy, Florence, and Catalonia, and [also 5] the Burgesses of Berwick-upon-Tweed, the Liberties to them granted [by a Statute 6] heretofore; and to all other the King's liege People the Benefit of [Licence⁷] to them granted by the King by the Advice of his Council.

ITEM, Whereas by a Statute made in the Time of King Richard the Second, It was ordained, That the Justices assigned and to be assigned to take Assises and deliver Gaols, [shall 8] hold their Sessions in the principal and chief Towns of every County, that is to say, where the Shire Courts of the Counties [heretofore were, and hereafter shall 9] be holden; Our Lord the King, willing the same Statute to be observed and kept in the County of Cumberland, considering that the City of Carlisle is the principal and chief City and Town of the said County, and in the which the Shire Court of the same County hath been holden before this Time, hath granted and ordained, by the Authority of the same Parliament, That the Session of the Justices to take Assises, and to deliver Gaols in the (10) County of Cumberland, be holden, in Time of Peace and of Truce, in the said City of Carlisle, and in none other Place within the same County; as it hath been used and accustomed of old Time.

ITEM, Whereas It was ordained [by a Statute, '] that the Justices of Peace of all the Counties of England for the Time being, shall sit and hold their Sessions Four Times by the Year, to inquire and execute all Charges contained in their Commission, which they be sworn to do according to the Form of the said Statute, upon a great Pain, as by the same Statute more fully appeareth: Our Lord the King, considering that all [the'] High Courts be set and holden in the County of Middlesex continually during all the Four [Times of the Term, by which Time of Term 3 the Commons inhabiting in and of the same County, must attend from Time to Time to inquire of all the Articles to the said Courts belonging, as Reason and Law requireth; and that presently after every of the said Terms ended, the said Justices (4) of the said County do sit and hold their Sessions in the same County, as they ought to do by force of the said Statute, more to avoid the said Penalty, than for any other [necessary Thing 5] there to be inquired, at which Sessions they cause to come before them a great Part of the Inhabitants and Commons of the said County of Middlesex, to inquire of all Manner of Things as to them is given in Charge; and by that means they be charged and vexed throughout all the Year, as well out of [the Time of Term, o as in [Time of Term, o so that they have no Rest, nor Time to do their Husbandry and their Labour, to get their Living in any wise, to their utter undoing if they be not relieved in this Behalf: Therefore the same our Lord the King willing in this Case to provide for them a Remedy, hath ordained, by the Advice and Assent aforesaid, and at the Request of the said Commons of the Realm, That the Justices of Peace which now be, and all other hereafter for the Time being, in the said County of Middlesex, shall be clearly discharged of the said Penalty, by Authority of the same Parliament, [from henceforth,7] the Court of the King's Bench being [set in 8] the said County of Middlesex. Provided always, that the said Justices of Peace of the said County of Middlesex for the Time being keep observe and execute the Court of the Sessions of the Peace, Two Times in the Year at the least, and more often if need be for any Riot or forcible Entry made within the same County of Middlesex, and that upon the Pain and Forfeiture of such Sums as be for that ordained by any Law made before this Time: to the End and Intent that the said Commons and Inhabitants of the said County of Middlesex be not enforced nor compelled to appear before the Justices of Peace of the same County for the time being, but at such [Time 9] which shall seem by the Discretions of the same Justices of Peace necessary and needful.

ITEM, It was shewed to our Lord the King by the Commons of the same Parliament, that as well because of undue Search made in the Ports and Creeks within the Realm upon divers Persons, which by subtil Imaginations and Means [do 'o'] ship Wool and Woolfels, and several other Merchandises which ought to repair to the Staple of Calais, and them ('o') carry and convey to divers other Parts beyond the Sea, without paying Custom, against the Tenor of the [Statute ''] thereof made and ordained, by the which Means the Customs

And if any Person [take 8] any Wools, Woolfels, or any other Merchandise of the Staple, in any suspicious Place adjoining to the Water Side, in whatsoever Place that it be, and no Indenture thereof made betwixt him and the Mayor, Bailiffs, or Constable of the Town in the which such Wools, Woolfels, and other Merchandises of the Staple be so layed, that then the same Wools, Woolfels, and Merchandises be forfeit; and that the King have one Moiety of all such Forfeitures, and the Lord of the Town where such Merchandises be so layed, and he which them (9) find and seise, the other Moiety, to be equally divided betwixt them. And (10) every Man shall have Power by Authority aforesaid to make Search in every Place [for "] such Goods of the Staple so carried or shipped, or laid to be shipped as afore is said, without Impediment or Disturbance of any Person.

FIRST, Because that the Steward and Marshal of the King's [House'] and their Deputies before this Time have holden before them Pleas of Debt, Detinue, and other Pleas personal, moved betwixt People which were not of the same [House,'] making mention in their Records, that the Plaintiffs and Defendants of the same Pleas were of the said [House,'] and do not allow to the Parties Defendants in the same Pleas their Challenges and Exceptions by them alledged, that they themselves, or the Plaintiffs in the same Suits, be not of the same [Houses,'] against the Laws and Statutes before this Time (1) had and made; whereby divers of the King's liege People, in his Court holden before the said Steward and Marshal, oftentimes against the Law be grievously vexed and troubled to their great Damage and Hindrance: Our said Lord the King, considering the Premisses, hath ordained by Authority of the same Parliament, That in every Suit from henceforth against the [said] Defendants to be taken, they shall not be estopped by such Record, to say that themselves, or the Plaintiffs in the same Record specified, were not at the Time of the said Plea or Suit [thereof] commenced, of the King's [House,'] as by the same Record is supposed; but the (3) Defendants shall have their Averment to say, that they themselves, or the said Plaintiffs, were not of the same [House'] at the Time of such Plea or Suit commenced, the said Record or [other 1] Matter within the same contained notwithstanding.

ITEM, Forasmuch as by the Law [it was] ordained, [that] no Man might carry nor bring Corn out of the Realm of England without the King's Licence, for cause whereof Farmers and other Men which use Manurement at 6 s. 8 d, of their Land, may not sell their Corn but of a [bare 5] Price, to the great Damage of all the Realm: Our said Sovereign Lord the King, willing in this Case to provide Remedy, hath ordained by Authority aforesaid,

ITEM, Whereas in the Statute made the xxj Year of King Richard the Second, at the grievous Complaint of the Commons, shewing how the Staple was limited to remain at Calais, and that all Manner of Wools, Woolfels, Leather, Lead, Tin, Cheese, Butter, and Honey going out of the Realm of England, ought to have Recourse to the said Place of Calais, and to no Place elsewhere; certain Persons by their Suggestions had before that Time purchased Licences to carry out Wools and other Merchandises aforesaid, to what Parts beyond the Sea that pleased them, of the King's Amity, to the which their Licences do extend, without coming to the said [Places 3] of Calais, to the great Advantage of the Persons so having Licences, and great Damage of them which have no Licence; Wherefore the said King, by Authority of his Parliament holden the Year aforesaid, ordained and stablished, that the said Statute should be holden and observed as to the great Merchandises aforesaid, that is to say, Wools, Woolfels, Tin, and Lead only, without Licence thereof to be granted but by the King himself: In respect of which Statute so made, the Chancellor for the Time being often hath denied to grant Licences for Cheese and Butter to be [carried 6] to any other Place, but only to the same (7) Calais, to the great Damage of the (8) People of this Realm: Our said Lord the King, considering that Cheese and Butter is a Merchandise which cannot be well kept, nor tarry his Merchant, and will be greatly impaired by (9) Vermin and Worms, and is also tender and of so simple Price, that it cannot well bear the Costs of the Staple, hath ordained by the Authority aforesaid, that the King's liege People may convey and carry out of his Realm, whither it shall please them,

Yards, they will make thereof xxij. or less, saying that it is the Measure of London, by which oppression many men be grievously endamaged: Our Sovereign Lord the King, considering the Premises, doth ordain by the Authority aforesaid, in every Place in this Land to be one certain Measure [whereas there is a Warden of the Aulnage of Cloth 15] that he have a Line made of Silk or of Thread, of [the right 16] Measure in Manner of straight [tissue,"] sealed at both Ends, after the Advice of the Barons of the Exchequer; and every [Warden 18] of the Aulnage shall pay for his Line, which Line shall contain in Length Twelve Yards and Twelve Inches, and the said Line [signed'9] at every Yard an Inch, and at the End of the Half-yard Half an Inch, the Quarter of a Yard a Quarter of an Inch, to measure a whole Cloth or a Dozen broad or straight, measuring for the Dozen of [Cloth watered, 207 Twelve Yards and Twelve Inches, and of [dry Cloth unwatered "] Fourteen Yards and Fourteen Inches; so measuring the Length till the End of the Cloth, according as it is of Length in Manner as aforesaid, when the said [Warden 18] of the Aulnage is required;

ITEM, For that the King is and hath been well certified of [many '] great Deceits and Falsities, which have been done to him and to his Realm by some of the Captains which have before this Time indented with the King to serve him in the Feat of War, some beyond the Sea and in divers Parts, as they be appointed and bound by their Indentures, and some in his Marches on this Side the Sea, and (2) their Wages have been truly paid and contented by the King, according to their (3) Indentures, for them and for all their Retinue, according to their Degrees; [which '] Wages many of the said Captains have abused, and taken upon them to [deduce from '] their Soldiers, of some more, and some less; so that such, from whom they have abated, have not been able to continue their Service, nor perform the same as of Right and Reason they ought to have done, and peradventure were willing to have done, if they had been fully paid, which hath caused them to fall to Robbery and Pillage, as well on this Side the Sea before their going, as beyond the Sea, when they came thither; amongst other Things it hath been a great Cause of long Continuance of the War, and great Damage and Loss which hath fallen to the [Seigniories and Countries of the King 6] in his Obeisance beyond the Sea, and not only that, but Loss also of great Treasure which hath been granted to the King, and paid in the Form aforesaid for the Defence of his Land: The King, willing against such Damages and Losses to provide a Remedy in this Behalf, hath ordained by the Authority aforesaid, That no Captain which hereafter shall have the Conduct of such Retinues, and shall receive the King's Wages for the same, shall abate of his Soldiers, nor any of them, any Part of their Wages, except it be for their Clothing; that is to say, if they shall be waged for Half a Year, Ten Shillings a Gown for a Gentleman, and Six Shillings Eight-pence for a Yeoman, upon Pain of Twenty Pound for every Spear, and Ten Pound for [a'] Bow, to the King, [from whom he did abate upon the Tenour of the same."]

ITEM, Seeing divers and many Soldiers before this Time, which have taken Parcel or Half their Wages of their Captains, and so have mustered and been entered of Record the King's Soldiers before his Commissioners, for such Terms for which their Masters have indented, have sometime presently after their Muster, and the Receipt of part or of the whole of their Wages, departed and gone where they would, and have not passed the Sea with their said Captains, and some passed the Sea, and long within their Terms departed from their Captains and the King's Service, without [apparent Licence 9] to them granted by their said Captains, whereof hath grown so great Damage to the King and to his Realm, and so many Inconveniencies, which cannot easily be expressed, as of long Time the Experience hath shewed; and the which Soldiers so doing, as much as in them was, [decayed 10] the Honour and Reverence of the King, and have been many Ways great Causers of the Losses which have ensued in his Lands and Seigniories beyond the Sea, and the [Adventure "] also of the Persons of the Lords and Captains which did conduct them: The same King considering the Premises, and willing against such Inconveniencies and Damages to provide a Remedy, hath ordained by the Authority aforesaid,

ITEM, Whereas by the Ordinance of Partition made upon Wools and Woolfels in the Staple [of2] Calais, and by the long and straight Continuance of the same, great Hinderance and Decrease have come to the King of great notable Sums of his great Customs and Subsidies, as well in his Realm of England as at his Town of Calais, as appeareth sufficiently of record in his Exchequer, for the which the Commons of this Realm have been oftentimes charged to their great Damage, the King's Soldiers of Calais, and of the Marches there, the worse paid of their Wages, the said Town and Castle of Calais not repaired, and that also the said straight Rule hath caused [many3] Merchants Strangers to labour to their Lords of their Party to make [as 1] grievous and straight Search upon Bullion coming to the King's Mint [to 1] Calais, so that Men of divers Countries in Conveyance of Bullion have been greatly hindered, as well in their Persons as in their Goods, so that the said Mint is fallen [in'] great Decay, and may not be sustained as it was in the Time of the Reign of King Henry the Fifth, Father to our said Sovereign Lord the King that now is, and many Years before that the said Partition was first ordained [and made 3]; And that moreover the Merchants of this Realm be [by that 6] greatly hindered, and the most Part of them of very Necessity be enforced to leave their Merchandises of Wools and Woolfels, because that they may not [attend7]

ITEM, Forasmuch as King Edward the Third, by great Deliberation ordained his whole Staple of Wools Woolfels and other Merchandises to be at Calais, for the Weal and Profit of (3) his Realm, and Safeguard of the said Town; and by the great Liberties and Franchises given to Merchants thither repairing, [after that many Years 1] came great Revenues to him and to his Successors, as it appeareth of Record in the King's Exchequer, that is to say, in [every 5] Year of his Reign lxviij M fi. and more, and so continued many Years, at which Time great Riches came into this Realm of England by the mean of Merchants of the said Staple then being many in Number and of great Riches, good Justice and and Law had betwixt Party and Party, and by them well executed, the said Town of Calais and the Marches were well repaired, and Soldiers paid of their Wages; [although that maintenant 6] by divers and many Licences given by Letters Patents, and by misusing of the said Licences in buying of Wools and Woolfels in other Places than their Licence containeth, in shipping [great 7] Number and Weight, and colouring the same by new [contrived 8] Names, as Morling and Shorling; and some Persons which according to their Licence ought to have carried their Wools over the Mountains, have sold the same in Brabant, and in other Places, to such Men which were wont to be accustomed to buy their Wools at the Staple of Calais; and also by great stealing out of Wools and Woolfels not customed in divers Parts of England, of Ireland, and of Wales, oftentimes by the Consent and Mean of [unlawful9] Officers as Searchers and Surveyors, which take no Fee, but privy Rewards for doing wrong to the King; and by divers Restraints of Merchandises in Calais, as well by Wars as by Soldiers for their Wages, and many other Causes, in which the Merchants of the said Staple [be not of Ability nor 10] Power to enjoy their Liberties and Franchises of old Time used and accustomed: Now it is so, that by the Means aforesaid, and by the breaking of [such Staples,"] the Customs and Subsidies of the Merchandises repairing to the said Staple of Calais pass not yearly xij M. pound, which is but little in Comparison to that that they have been heretofore, the Commons of this Land not enriched by their Wools and Woolfels, and other Merchandises, as they were wont to be, the Merchants greatly minished as well in Number as in Goods, and not [of 12] Power nor [of 12] Comfort to buy the Wools and Woolfels, and other Merchandises as they have done of old Time, the Soldiers of Calais and of the Marches there not paid of their Wages, the Town of Calais by Default of Reparation, as well within the Town Walls Towers and Castle, as without the

OF THE TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

To the Honour of God and of Holy Church, and for the common Wealth and Profit of all the Realm of England, Our Lord the King, Henry the Sixth after the Conquest, by Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the special Instance and Request of the Commons [in the Parliament assembled of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is,'] holden at Westminster the Sixth Day of November, the Eight-and-twentieth Year of his Reign, by Authority of the same Parliament, hath ordained and established certain Ordinances and Statutes in Manner and Form following.

FIRST, Whereas at his Parliament holden at Westminster the xxvii. Year of his Reign, because of a certain Ordinance, had, proclaimed, published, and respecting Importation of Goods Zealand, that no Manner of Woollen Cloths made in this Realm (1) should not come into the said Parts, there to be sold in any wise, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the same Cloths, Wherefore our said Sovereign Lord the King, because that it was expressly against the Truce and Appointment, made and taken betwixt his Realms Lands and Subjects of the one Part, and the Lands which the Duke of Burgoin [holdeth and occupieth 3] of other Part, many Times before [this 1] Time made his Letters of Request to be written, and sent his [Message 3] for due Reformation to be had in this Behalf, whereof no due Remedy [is 6] yet had, to the (7) intolerable Damage of all the Commons of this Realm, because that many Clothmakers, that is to say, Men, Weavers Fullers and Dyers, and Women [Websters, 1] Carders, and Spinners, and other Buyers and Sellers of the same, such which know none other Occupation, of very Necessity [be9] constrained for their Living to do these Occupations, and some of them [live idly,"] which provoketh them to Sin and Evil Life; and upon this Consideration in the said Parliament the said xxvii. Year, It was ordained, That unless due continual Reformation were made in the said Parts of Brabant, Holland, and Zealand, of the said Ordinance, betwixt [this "] Time and the Feast of Saint Michael then next ensuing, so that all Manner of Woollen Cloths made in this Realm [may "] come and be accepted in the same Parts of Brabant, Holland, and Zealand, there to be uttered and sold as [speedily"] as any other Merchandises; that then for Default of such Reformation in [this"] Behalf, no manner of Merchandises nor Goods of the Growing nor

ITEM, Whereas the King's noble Progenitors, by great [Deliberation and o] Advice, and divers Acts of Parliament in (7) Times past, did ordain and establish a Staple to be at Calais, to the Intent that all the Wools and Woolfels, and other Merchandises of this Realm, called Merchandises of the Staple, which should be shipped to pass out of this Realm, should be carried to the said Staple, and to none other Place; and [in the Time that *] it was so used, Calais was in great Surety, and this Land, as to the Commodities of the same, in great Prosperity; till now of late that by strange and sinister Means, many and divers Licences of Wools and Woolfels have been granted and executed, as well in the King's Name as otherwise, and have passed into the Parts beyond the Sea, to other Places than to the said Staple, and sold to the same Persons, which were accustomed to come to the said Staple to buy Wools and Woolfels (9); and also divers Persons have much used to ship Wools and Woolfels out of this Realm, some privily by Night, and some openly by Force,10] without paying therefore to the King any Custom or Subsidy, and carry the same to other Places than to the said Staple, and have sold them to such Persons as were accustomed to buy Wools and Woolfels at the said Staple; by which undue Means, great Damage and Inconvenience hath grown to our said Sovereign Lord the King and this his Realm, and to the Safeguard of the said Town and Marches of the same :

[for every Default 6]; and that every Person, which would sue for the King should have the one Half of the Pain so forfeit; so that the Fletchers throughout the Realm, might sell their [Shafts 7] at more easy and reasonable Price than they were wont to sell; as in the said Statute more fully is contained: And though also that the said Asp Timber be the best and lightest Timber, thereof to make Pattens and Clogs, and most easy for the wearing of all Estates, Gentiles, and other People, of any Timber that groweth; and before the making of the said Statute the said Patten-makers were as free, and at as great Liberty to buy all manner of Asp Timber, and thereof to make Pattens and Clogs, as [they were at the same Time, 8] and at all Times have been, and yet be all manner People of the Crafts and Occupations of Turners, Carpenters, Woodmongers, and Colemakers, which do occupy, expend, and waste yearly in their Occupations a great Quantity of all manner Timber of Asp, as well such Asp Timber as would serve to make [Shafts 7] thereof, as that that would not serve for the same, and no Restraint is made for them or any of them to the contrary; and very much Asp Timber there is, which will in no wise serve the Fletchers to make thereof [Shafts,7] which is as sufficient, able, and convenient to be made in Pattens and Clogs, as is the Remnant of the said Timber to be made in [Shafts 7]; and the said Patten-makers durst not occupy any Part of the said Timber, nor one nor other, for Fear of Forfeiture of the said Pain contained in the said Statute, which is great Damage to the said Patten-makers, and none Advantage to the said Fletchers, and the common People throughout the Realm thereby greatly [diseased 9]: Wherefore our Sovereign Lord the King considering the Premises, by the Advice and Assent of the said Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of the said Commons, (10) hath ordained that from henceforth at all Times it shall be lawful to the Patten Makers of this Realm, to make Pattens of such (") Timber of Asp, that is not apt, sufficient, nor convenient to be made into [Shafts,7] and that for the common Weal; And that as often as any Patten-maker, after the Feast of Easter, which shall be in the Year of our Lord God M. T the Parliament holden at Westminster the Sixth A Day of October, in the Twelfth Year of the Reign of King Edward, the Fourth after the Conquest; Our said Sovereign Lord the King, to the Honour of God, and for the Weal of him and of his Realm, by the Advice and Assent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and at the Request of his Commons, in the same Parliament assembled, and by Authority of the same Parliament, hath [ordained, made,'] and established certain Statutes and Ordinances in Form following.

Low served to the shift of the shift shift while

FIRST, Whereas by a Statute made at Westminster Recital of in the Twenty-third Year of the Reign of King Henry, the Statute late in Deed and not of Right King of England, called King Henry the Sixth (1) It was ordained, That no Sheriff should occupy his Office of Sheriff above a Year, upon Pain of Two Hundred Pounds, except certain Persons in the said Statute excepted; as in the same is more plainly specified; divers and many of the King's liege People have been grievously indamaged, and greatly delayed of their Suits and Processes every Year, in the Term called Michaelmas Term, as for their Actions, Writs, and Precepts to be returned within the same Term, after the Sixth Day of the Month of November, [because that 3] the King's Letters Patents whereby any (4) Sheriff is made, do most commonly bear Date the Sixth Day of November; and [though it so be 3] that new Sheriffs be yearly chosen the Morrow after the Feast Day of All Souls, of which new Sheriffs so chosen and appointed, divers of them have refused, and divers of them have not had their Patents, nor taken their Oath, until long Time after the End of the said Michaelmas Term; by reason whereof divers of the King's liege People and Subjects be greatly indamaged and delayed of their Suits, Processes, and Precepts, which should be returnable in the King's Courts at the Days of Return within the same Term, after the Sixth Day of November; that is to say, at the Days of Return called Crastino Martini, Octabis Martini, and Quindena Martini, because that the old Sheriffs durst not, nor would not take upon them to return any Writ or Precept after the Year

^{*} Parliament was continued by divers Prorogations and Adjournments, from 6 October 12 Edw. IV. A. D. 1472. to 14 March 15 Edw. IV. A. D. 1474-5. The Petitions, on which this Statute 12 Edw. IV. was framed, are entered in English on Memb. 7. of the Parliament-Roll 14 Edw. IV. nu. 45. to nu. 53.

⁺ The French Text of these Statutes from hence to the End of 22 Edw. IV. was not inserted in any Printed Collection of the tatutes at Large after Pynson's [circ. 1497], until Cay's [1758]: In that, and subsequent Printed Copies, the French Text of all those Statutes is stated to be taken from MS. Cott. Nero C. I.; but, on examination, that Manuscript appears incorrect in many particulars in which it is printed, as correct, by Cay and subsequent Editors. A more perfect Copy is found in the Petyt Manuscript Nu. 8. in the Inner Temple Library. The Corrections in the Notes are from both these Manuscripts; and, in their default, from the Old Printed Copies; of which the earliest by Maclinia [circ. 1482] is, in the Statutes of these Years, much the most accurate.

Sheriffs, before having their Writ of Discharge, may return Writs, during Michaelmas Term.

that his Patent did bear Date, for Fear of the Penalty contained in the aforesaid Statute, to the great Loss, as well to the King of that which should grow to him by reason of the said [Process'] as to his liege People, by Delays which they thereby sustain; It is ordained by Authority of the foresaid Parliament, That if any Sheriff of any County do execute or return any Writ, Precept, or Warrant in any of the Courts of the King, within the said Term called Michaelmas Term, after the Sixth Day of November, and before any. Writ of Discharge delivered to him of his [occupying 2 of Sheriffwick, he shall not be damnified by Force of the said Statute, nor charged of the Penalty aforesaid, although that he hath occupied the Office of Sheriff [after any 3] of the said Days of Return called Crastino Martini, Octabis Martini, or Quindena Martini.

ITEM, Because that our Sovereign Lord the King, by a Petition delivered to him in the said Parliament, by the Commons of the same, hath perceived that great Scarcity of Bow-staves is now in this (4) Realm, and the Bow-staves that be in the (5) Realm be sold at an excessive Price, whereby the Exercise of Archery is greatly discontinued, and almost lost; Our said Lord the King considering the Premises, by the Advice, Assent, and Authority aforesaid, hath ordained and established (6) That every Merchant Stranger, and every or any of their Factors, Attornies, or Servants, which at any Time after the Feast of Saint Michael the Archangel next coming, shall bring, send, or convey into this Land any Merchandise in Carrack, Galley, or Ship [of 7] the City or Country of Venice, or [of 8] other City, Town, or Country, from whence any such Bow-staves have been before this Time brought, sent, or conveyed into this Land, at every Time of their bringing, sending, or conveying of any such Merchandises into this Realm, shall bring, send, or convey into this Realm, with the said Merchandises, in the same Carrack, Galley, or Ship, wherein any such Merchandises shall be hereafter brought, sent, or conveyed, for every [Tun Weight 9] of such Merchandises which hereafter shall be contained in every Carrack, Galley, or Ship, Four Bow-staves, upon Pain of Forfeiture to the King for every Default of bringing of every such Bow-staff, vj s. viij d. And also the said Bow-staves so brought, sent, or conveyed by the said Merchants, their Factors Attornies or Servants, into this Realm, shall be searched and surveyed by the Mayors, Sheriffs, Bailiffs, or chief Governors of such Cities or Towns within this Realm, where any such Carrack, Galley, or Ship shall hereafter come to safe Port; and the said Mayors, Sheriffs, Bailiffs, or chief Governors shall assign Two Men most expert, to search the said Staves, and the said Two Men to be sworn by the said Mayors, Sheriffs, Bailiffs, or chief Governors, (10) that they shall truly and indifferently mark the said Staves that be not good nor sufficient, according to the Manner as such Staves in Times past were wont to be marked, to the Intent that all the King's liege People may have Knowledge of them without Fraud.

where need should be, to survey and inquire, and [the same to execute, and '] that Justices should be thereto assigned at all Times [when Need requireth; 1] And after (3) grievous Complaint, [both of great Men, and of the Commons thereupon 1] made in the Parliament of 45 E.III.c. 2. the said King Edward the Third, in the Five and fortieth Year of his Reign, shewing by their Petition, that the said Statute was not duly executed nor observed according to the [Form and] Effect thereof, It was accorded and established, That the same Statute in that Point should be holden and kept according to [the Tenor 5] of the same; [adjoined 6] thereto, that if any such Annoyance [be done, that the same 7] be broken down by due Process contained in the said Statute, and that he which [again doth levy 8] such Annoyances, and be thereof duly attainted, [shall 9] run in the Pain of an C. Marks to our Lord the King, to be levied by the Estreats of the Exchequer; the same Law [shall 9] be holden of Annoyance made by the enhansing of [the said 10] Wears, Mills, Millstanks, Stakes, and Kedels, as by new levying, as in the said Statutes more plainly appeareth; and then at the Request of the said Commons, shewing by their Petition, that the common Passages of Ships and Boats in the great Rivers of England, and also Meadows and Pastures, and [arable Lands "] adjoining to the said Rivers, were greatly disturbed, drowned, wasted, and destroyed by the outragious enhansing and straiting of Wears, Mills, Millstanks, Stakes, and Kedels, in old Time made and levied before the Time of the said King Edward, Son to [the said] King Henry, whereby great Loss and Damage often ensued to the People of the Realm, and daily would ensue, if Remedy were not provided; Wherefore it was ordained and enacted by the Assent of the said Parliament, holden the First Year of the said pretensed King Henry the Fourth, That the said Statutes in all their Articles should be observed, firmly kept, and duly executed; adjoining thereto, that Commissions should be made in due Form to sufficient Persons to be Justices in every County of England, where Need should be, to survey and keep the Waters and great Rivers there, and to correct and amend the Faults, and to make due Execution by the said Statutes, according to the Effect of the same, as well by their Survey, Advice, and Discretion, as by Inquests to be taken thereof within Franchise and without, (12) when Need shall be, and to hear and determine all those Things aforesaid; and moreover to survey the Wears, Mills Millstanks Stakes and Kedels in old Time made, and levied before the said Time of King Edward, Son to King Henry; and such as they find too much enhansed or straited, to correct, break down, and amend in the Manner and Form aforesaid; Saving always a reasonable Substance of the same Wears, Mills, Millstanks, Stakes, Kedels, so in old Time made and levied. And if any such Annoyances of Wears, Mills, Millstanks, Stakes, and Kedels, in [letting13] of the Passages and [straiting 14] in old Time made and levied, be judged or considered by the said Justices to be broken down or amended, he that hath the Freehold of the same shall do Execution thereof at his own Costs, within Half a Year after [Knowledge given to him, 15]

And Whereas in the Parliament holden the Second Year of the usurped Reign of Henry the Sixth, late in Deed and not of Right King of England, amongst other, It was ordained, That no Goldsmith nor Worker of Silver within the City of London, should sell any Thing wrought of Silver, unless it (1) be as fine as the Sterling, except that that needeth solder in the making, which [shall 1] be allowed according as the solder [shall +] be necessary to be wrought in the same; and that no Goldsmith nor Jeweller, nor other Man that [worketh 3] Harness of Silver, put any of the same to Sale in the same City, before [it be 6] touched with the Touch of the Leopard's Head, that which may reasonably bear the same Touch, and also with a Mark or Sign of the Worker of the same, upon Pain of Forfeiture of the Double; and that the Mark or Sign of every Goldsmith [shall 7] be committed to the Wardens of the same Mystery; and if it may be found that the Keeper of the Touch aforesaid, do touch any such Harness with the Leopard's Head, [which is not *] as fine in Allay as the Sterling, that then the Keeper of the Touch, for every Thing so proved not so good in Allay as the Sterling, forfeit the Double Value to our Sovereign Lord the King and to the Party; which Statute is daily broken by the Goldsmiths and other Workers of Silver, inhabiting as well in the City of London as elsewhere within this Realm and Wales; and our Sovereign Lord the King in Effect nothing answered of any Forfeiture comprised in the same Statute; albeit that the King's liege People, daily buying Things wrought by the said Goldsmiths or Workers as fine Gold or fine Silver, supposing it [to be the same,9] where in Deed it is not so, be grievously deceived, because that the said Touch of the Leopard's Head is oftentimes set to such Things, by the said Keeper of the said Touch of London and other Places, [as though the Thing were fine, and not defective; "] and oftentimes the Sign of the Worker of the same is not set thereto according to the Statute aforesaid, nor the Action given in the same Statute [is no perfect Remedy to the Persons grieved in this Behalf 1]: It is ordained by Authority of this present Parliament, for the better Execution of the said Statute, and for to eschew the Deceit daily done by the said Goldsmiths and Workers of Gold and Silver in the said City of London and elsewhere, within this Realm

And for the better surveying of the said Aliens and Strangers, in Time to come to be had, It is ordained by the Authority aforesaid, That the same Aliens and Strangers, Goldsmiths and Workers of Gold and Silver, inhabiting within the said City, and every of them, from the Feast of Saint Michael the Archangel next coming, shall inhabit them in the open Streets of the said City, and where [better and more open shewing 3] is of their Craft. And It is ordained by the said Authority, That if the aforesaid (4) Keeper of the said Touch (5) or Worker of Harness or other Thing of Gold or Silver not made of the said Fineness, do touch or mark the same Harness or other Thing as fine and able, that then for Non-sufficiency of the said Keeper and Worker, [the Persons of 6] the said Craft of Goldsmiths of the said City of London, by whatsoever Name or Names they be corporate (7) shall be chargeable and charged of the said Forfeitures by like Action or Actions of Debt as is aforesaid in like Manner and Form as immediately before is specified. * The Statute of this Year, in French, was printed, by Maclinia or Caxton, soon after the End of the Session of Parliament; and is also included in the Collection of Statutes by Pynson (1497.) The Text now given from Lib. XI. in the Exchequer at Westminster agrees in general with those Printed Copies. Some of the Acts, as inrolled on the Parliament Roll of this Year, were printed in the Edition by Pulton (1618) and some others in subsequent Printed Collections. These differ, in their Preambles and other Particulars, from the correspondent Chapters of the English Text of the Statute as given in the Old Printed Editions, translated from the French Text. MS. Pet ; MS. Hatt. 10.; MS. Cott. Nero C. I, and other Manuscript Collections of Statutes contain the Statute of this Year in French, agreeing very nearly with the French Text in the Oldest Printed Copies. The Introductory Clause of the Statute in English is given from the Old Printed Translations.

Instead of this short Preamble, the Act, as inrolled on the Parliament Roll, commences with a Recital, not entirely exact, of the Preamble to the Petition in Rot. Parl. 17 Edw. IV. nu. 28. whereon the Act 17 Edw. IV. c. 2. was framed. The enacting Part of the Act is also recited from the same Parliament Roll of 17 Edw. IV; the Statute Roll of that Year being probably lost or missing, in the Time of Richard III. See the Statute 17 Edw. IV. and the Notes there. The Old Printed Translations read, nearly in conformity with the French Text, as follows:

. The Statutes of this First Year, and of the Third Year, of this King's Reign, have hitherto, as far as has been discovered, been printed in English, in all Collections of the Statutes at large: The French Text now printed, of the Statutes of both these Years, is taken from the Petyt Manuscript No. 8. in the Inner Temple Library, compared with and corrected, by the various Readings in the Notes, from the Hatton Manuscript 10. [Catal. MS. Angl. 4135.] in the Bodleian Library.

In Lib. Scacc. Westm. XI. and many other Manuscripts, the Statutes of these Years are entered in English, agreeing with the Old Printed English Copies, and in Form with the French Text as now printed, beginning as in the succeeding Page, 500; The English Text, of all the Acts contained in the Statute, is now printed from the Inrollment on the Roll of Parliament of this Year: Such Variations as occur in Lib. Scace. wherewith the Old Printed Copies in general agree, are inserted in the Notes. The French Text does not contain what are inserted in Lib. Scace. and the Printed Copies, as the concluding Chapters of this and the Third Year; Those Chapters, having heretofore been printed as they appear in Lib. Scace. are now printed from that Source, as part of the Statute, and also from the Inrollment of the correspondent Acts on the Parliament Rolls, in conformity with the Method pursued in the preceding Chapters of each Session.
